The Tradition Continues...

... Making it Happen

Maryland basketball flies its flag high. It announces a high standard others try to match. As a flagship program of a flagship University, Maryland's women boasts a dozen National Tournament appearances, three Final Fours and a record number of Atlantic Coast Conference Championships. Its flag proudly accompanied five players to the Olympics and was carried by 23 ACC All-Tournament selections, six MVP's of the league Tournament, and 13 Terps in the Olympic Festival. A look above the floor of Cole Field House shows of Maryland's success. The cafters ring with championship flags.

Chris Weller is the head coach who propels the program to new heights. Her never ending enthusiasm powers the ascent of the flag. She surrounds herself with experienced hard workers — Boe Pearman, Alisa Scott and Theresa Gernatt, coaches. Pearman has been a part of six of Maryland's eight ACC championships. Scott and Gernatt are new to the staff but have learned that playing under the flag is important. Together, this quartet leads Maryland.

Weller surrounds herself with players who want to emulate the success of the past. Each wears the Maryland flag with pride. Three players have worn the U.S. flag on the Junior National Team. Dafne Lee represented the country in 1990 while Katrina Colleton and Jessie Hicks were there in 1991. Colleton and Hicks were in Los Angeles at the Olympic Festival last summer. Bonnie Rimkus was the ACC Rookie of the Year in 1991. Malissa Boles was a first team Kodak All-America in the Junior College Ranks. Michele Andrew, Finland, and Limor Mizrachi, Israel, are currently members of their national teams.

The University of Maryland displays its flagship proudly, and lets the world know by flying the red, white, black and gold.

Flagship Status

The University of Maryland was officially designated as the "flagship" institution of the state's 11-school system in 1988. With the designation, the campus has emerged as one of the nation's foremost public institutions of higher education.

College Park boasts top facilities, educators and research opportunities in disciplines such as engineering, computer science, physics, economics and mathematics. Courses are taught by more than 2,000 full-time faculty, many of whom are internationally known scholars and researchers.

University President

William E. Kirwan

After more than 25 years of service as a professor and administrator at the University of Maryland at College Park, Dr. William E. Kirwan was appointed president on February 1, 1989. He had served as acting president of the University since August 1, 1988, when the resignation of President John B. Slaughter became effective.

Under Dr. Kirwan's leadership, the University of Maryland at College Park recently developed a $150 million, five-year plan to enhance the University, including a program to strengthen undergraduate education.

Dr. Kirwan joined the University in 1964 as an assistant professor of mathematics. He rose steadily through the faculty ranks as associate professor (1968-72), professor (1972-present) and chair of the Department of Mathematics (1977-81).

In 1981, he was appointed vice chancellor for academic affairs, College Park's chief academic post. From August to November 1982, Dr. Kirwan served as acting chancellor, returning to his position as vice chancellor when Dr. Slaughter was appointed chancellor of College Park. As vice chancellor, Dr. Kirwan raised admission standards, increased the number of merit scholarships and graduate fellowships, and established an academic planning process.

Dr. Kirwan is a member of numerous honorary and professional societies, including Phi Beta Kappa, the American Mathematical Society, and the Mathematical Association of America. He is the co-editor of the book Advances in Complex Analysis, and the author of many published articles on mathematical research. He served as editor of the Proceedings of the American Mathematical Society from 1977 to 1985. Currently, he chairs the Mathematical Sciences in the Year 2000 committee, a task force created by the National Research Council to improve mathematics education at the nation's colleges and universities during the next decade.

Born in Louisville, Ky. on April 14, 1938, Dr. Kirwan received his bachelor's degree in mathematics from the University of Kentucky in 1960. He holds master's (1962) and Ph.D. (1964) degrees in mathematics from Rutgers University.

Dr. Kirwan and his wife, Patricia, have a son who received his bachelor's and master's degrees in architecture from College Park and a daughter who currently is a student at the University.

Andy Geiger
Athletic Director

Andy Geiger, whose tenure as Athletic Director at Stanford University elevated him to the top rank of athletic administrators, was named to direct the athletic program at Maryland by College Park President William E. Kirwan on Sept. 7, 1990.

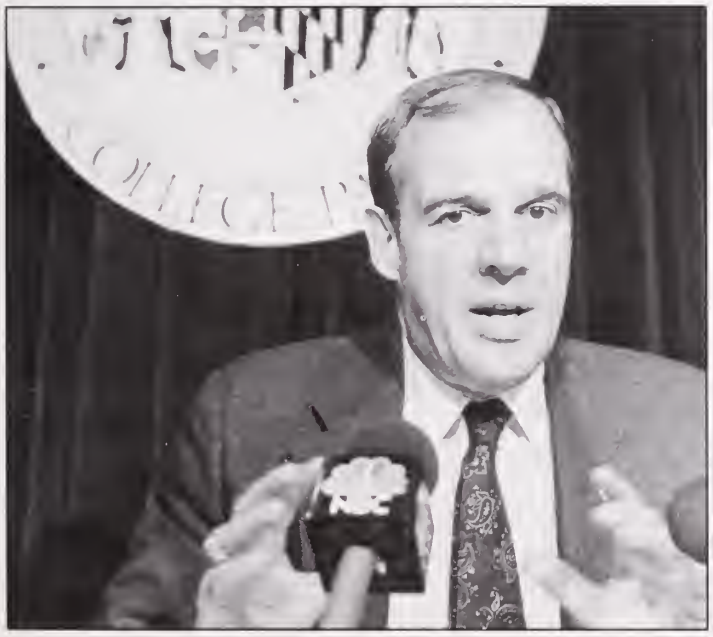
Since Geiger's first day on the job (Oct. 1), he has elevated the image of Maryland athletics, while providing structure and planning for the 1990s and beyond.

Of immediate impact was his being instrumental in Maryland going to its first football bowl game in five years (the Independence Bowl); rewarding coaches Joe Krivak and Gary Williams for their successes with new contracts; and establishing across the board equilibrium in the 23-sport program in the face of financial challenges.

Competitive highlights included Geiger's presence at Maryland's bids for its own NCAA titles: men's and women's lacrosse each made the NCAA's Final Four. Maryland won its first ever Atlantic Coast Conference Volleyball Championship, to add to the longest list of ACC titles won of any school.

Geiger is guiding the $68 million Maryland Partnership, a matching gift program with the state of Maryland, that is bringing vast improvements to both Byrd Stadium and Cole Field House. Above all, he is establishing management procedures to handle the complexities of a large, Division I athletic program, needed in a time of unparalleled scrutiny of college athletics.

Geiger's athletic philosophy, built-up over 27 years as an administrator (that included athletic directorships at Brown, Pennsylvania, and Stanford) is being established at Maryland. The Cardinal was as successful as any NCAA program in winning NCAA championships (27) during his tenure. His 11-year stewardship included a realignment of the department, and a highly successful restructuring of Stanford's ability to attract gift-giving. The obvious success was not at the expense of academics.



He was named Athletic Director at Brown in 1972, and he moved to another Ivy League school, Pennsylvania, in 1975. During his final year there (1978-79), Pennsylvania became the last Ivy school to qualify for the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. While at Penn he was named to the NCAA Division I Basketball Committee, and as a member he helped direct the enormous explosion of the NCAA Tournament in the 1980s.

Geiger, 51, is a 1961 graduate of Syracuse where he was an oarsman. He competed in the 1959 Pan American Games as a member of the U.S. crew team, and he served as manager of the U.S. Pan Am squad in 1971. He was freshman crew coach at Dartmouth immediately after graduation, and later served as secretary of the U.S. Olympic Rowing Committee. He served as Assistant Athletic Director at his alma mater from 1964-1970.

Geiger has been married to the former Eleanor Rollings for 28 years. They have two children, Phillip and Gregory.

Suzanne Tyler
Senior Associate Athletic Director

Dr. Suzanne Tyler is at the heart of Maryland athletics. Her 18-year association with the program has seen her serve the department in every fashion imaginable. From coach to administrator to confidant of the student-athlete, Tyler envelopes herself in red and white.

When Maryland needed an interim athletic leader in 1990 to direct the 23 sport Terrapin program, Tyler answered the call. She served in that capacity until the arrival of Athletic Director Andy Geiger.

Tyler's success has been extraordinary on both the athletic and academic levels. She had been serving as acting associate athletic director for six months prior to her being named interim director. In her charge were the day to day operations of the department, focusing administratively on football and the men's and women's basketball programs. She was an assistant director of athletics for varsity sports from 1988 until her acting associates directors role.

She is one of the few coaches in history to win NCAA championships in two sports - lacrosse in 1986 and field hockey in 1987. Tyler performed double duty in 1990 as an administrator/NCAA Finalist. While serving the department as an administrator she led the lacrosse team to the finals of the national championship. Her 1981 lacrosse team also won the NCAA championship. She was named the lacrosse "National Coach of the Year" in 1984 and 1986.

Her career reaches into the academic realm where she is as successful off the field as on the field. She has earned honors at each stage of her academic career - as an undergraduate at Northeastern in 1969, receiving her Master's Degree from Penn State in 1972 and Ph. D (Sports Psychology) from Maryland in 1986.

Currently, Tyler serves as the South Region Chair of the NCAA Volleyball Committee. She is the coordinator of compliance at Maryland and serves on the Long Range Planning Committee of the Atlantic Coast Conference. In addition she serves on the University's Senate Campus Affairs Committee, the Athletic Department's tradition committee and the Drug Committee sponsored by the University Health Center.

Tyler lives in nearby Beltsville with her husband Dennis Casey and son Andrew. Casey is an administrator at Montgomery Community College in Rockville.

The University at College Park

The University of Maryland College Park is the cornerstone of the 11 school Maryland state system of four year colleges. Chartered in 1856, Maryland College Park is situated on a 1,350 acre campus nine miles north of Washington, D.C., and in close proximity to Maryland's Capital of Annapolis and the state's largest city, Baltimore. Acres of lawns and tall shade trees accompany the 350 major buildings at Maryland College Park. It is one of the finest universities in the nation.

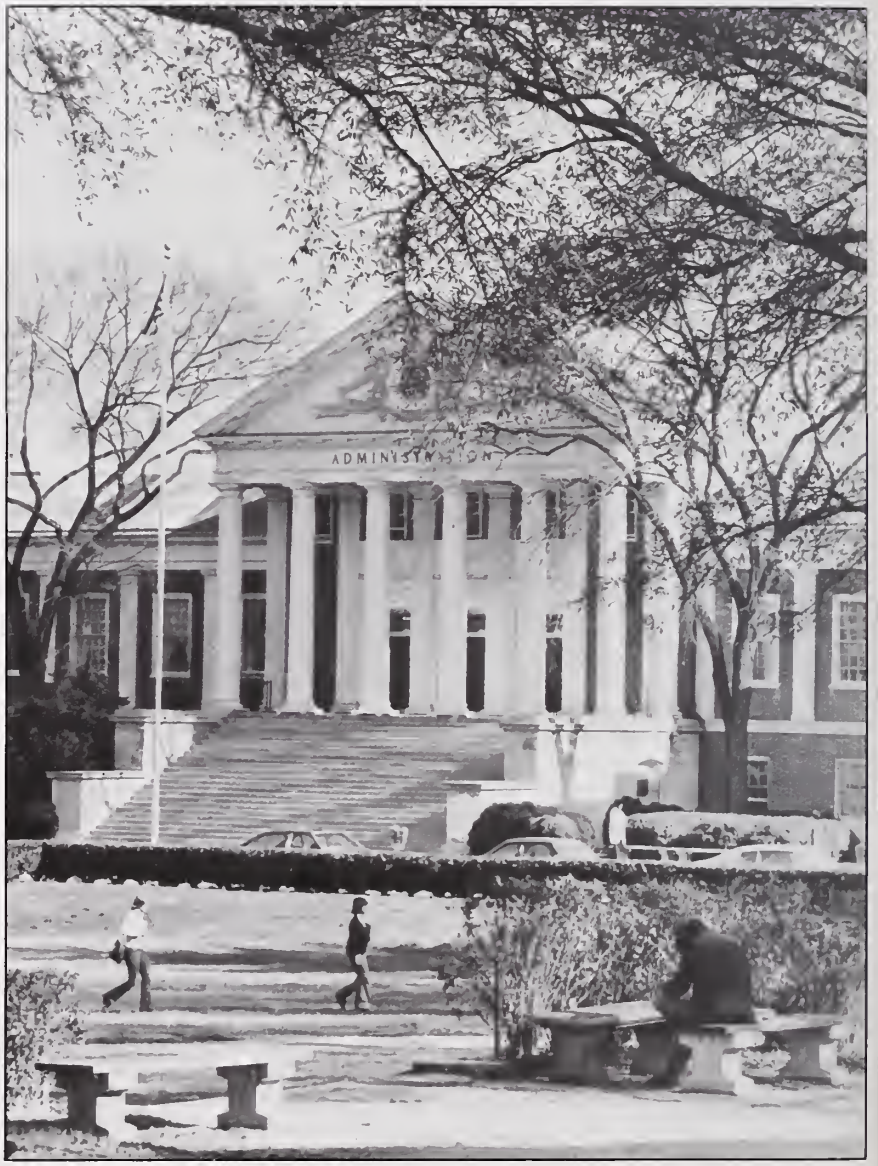
From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college, and its designation soon after as one of America's original land grant institutions, to it its officially mandated status in 1988 as the "flagship" institution of the state's 11-university system, the University of Maryland at College Park has emerged as one of the nation's foremost public institutions of higher education.

In such disciplines as engineering, computer science, physics, economics, and mathematics, College Park has attracted national and international recognition, placing it among the best of its peers. In the social sciences and humanities, in business and the arts, as well, the university has been widely acclaimed for the quality of its faculty and programs.

The 11th largest university in the United States, College Park undergraduate enrollment last year was 26,863. Its students pursue 122 majors for undergraduates and 88 programs for graduate students. Courses are taught by more than 2,081 full-time faculty, many of whom are internationally known scholars and researchers.

Over the past several years the average SAT scores of entering freshmen have soared to the highest in university history. As part of its commitment to enhancing undergraduate education, the university has reduced undergraduate enrollment, improved faculty-student ratios, raised admissions standards, revamped the honors program, strengthened advising, supported student research and encouraged numerous innovations in teaching. Along with the expanded emphasis on improving the learning environment for undergraduate students, the university has placed the highest priority on attracting more minority students and transforming the academic climate for women.

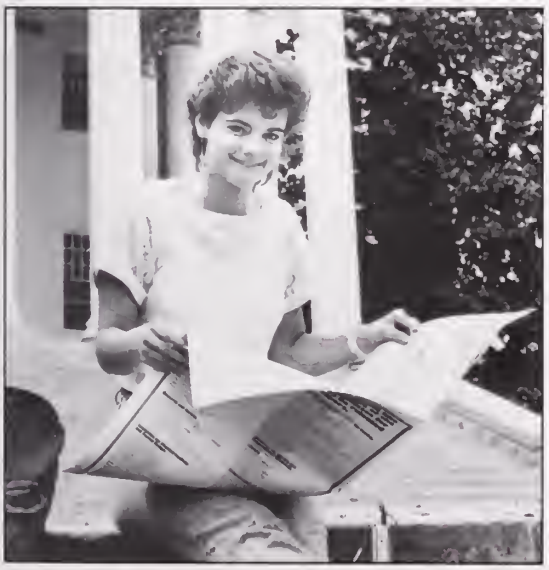
At the same time, the university attracts some of the nation's outstanding research scholars to its faculty. College Park ranks fourth in the nation in total federal research and development funding among public universities without a medical school, and the faculty has been awarded numerous Guggenheim, Sloan and Fulbright fellowships.

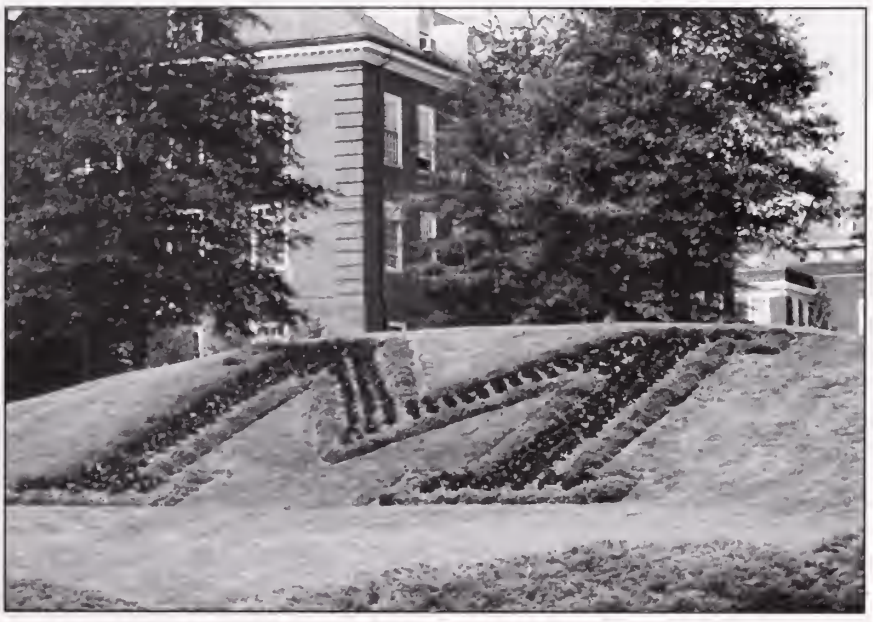


In addition, since its inception in 1984, the highly coveted National Science Foundation Presidential Young Investigator Award has gone to 17 younger College Park faculty members. Home to dozens of specialized centers and institutes that focus on areas as diverse as global climate change, international security, advanced helicopter design, super computers, the ecology of the Chesapeake Bay, Renaissance and Baroque studies, and innovative approaches to systems engineering, College Park is a hub of research and academic activity for the state, the region and the nation.

It is also a leader in providing technical assistance to businesses and government agencies as well as a catalyst for technology transfer and economic development within the state. From agricultural economics and artificial intelligence to regional and urban planning and the training of tomorrow's teachers, the university is a rich source of expertise for meeting the needs of both the public and private sector.

On the eve of a new century, the University of Maryland at College Park looks forward to the year 2000 as an institution of vigor and vitality, committed to continuing its role of helping stimulate and strengthen the intellectual, economic and cultural well-being of the students and citizens it serves.





Testudo, a Diamondback Turtle whose name is derived from the scientific classification for turtle (testudines), is the mascot of the University of Maryland. Testudo's flight to become official mascot was (there is no other description) slow. But once on top, Testudo has reigned with a bronze-like grip, peering at generations of younger Terps crossing in front of, or entering the Theodore R. McKeldin Library in the heart of the College Park campus. The 500 pound terrapin's days of roving to conquer rival campuses at the behest of the College Park student body are over, his undisturbed regal bearing insured by his being bolted to a concrete throne.

The need for a mascot was essential in the early 1920s in a world littered with Wildcats, Tigers, Devils, Wolves, Bears, and all sorts of traditional names derived from a half-century of college athletics. Maryland was consolidated from different state schools in 1920 to form the base of today's wide-ranging state system and it needed a flag-carrier to do battle with Wahoos, Lions, and Generals.

Dr. H.C. Byrd, the University President in 1922, recommended the Diamondback as mascot in response to the student newspaper's search for an "official" leader. Although his suggestion was, indeed, "official," there were some who resisted, opting for the older and historically entrenched term, Old-Liners. A label derived from the Revolutionary War when Maryland soldiers earned the accolade for bravery and perseverance in the face of British troops. Old-Liners had a more vocal lobby than the speechless turtle.

By 1935, however, the Yearbook had changed its name from Reveille to Terrapin by a vote of the student body, and save for some splintered resistance, Testudo's family had won. Newspapers, even then exploring every angle, shortened Terrapin to Terp, but Testudo by any name is still a turtle.

Samuel P. Gorham of Providence, R.I., cast Testudo in bronze at the request of the Class of 1933. He was modeled after a feisty Diamondback that came from Dr. Byrd's hometown of Crisfield. Dr. Byrd's choice of mascot was not intended to reflect the docility of Maryland teams. As a small boy near his home he surely found out what so many others have discovered about Terrapins — they bite.

COLORS

The colors of the University of Maryland are those of the state flag—gold, red, black, and white.

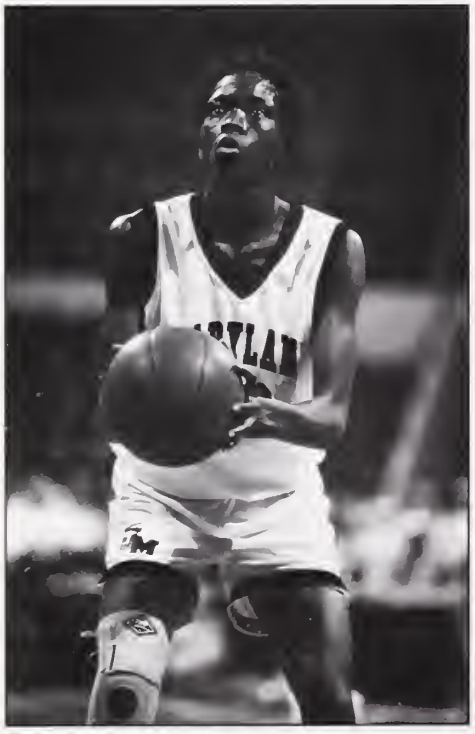
Maryland's flag bears the arms of the Calvert and Crossland families. Calvert was the family name of the Lords Baltimore who founded Maryland, and their colors of gold and black appear in the first and fourth quarters of the flag. Crossland was the family of the mother of George Calvert, first Lord Baltimore. The red and white Crossland colors, with a Greek cross terminating in the foils, appear in the second and third quarters. The flag was first flown in its present form October 25, 1888, at Gettysburg Battlefield for the ceremonies dedicating monuments to Maryland regiments of the Army of the Potomac. It was officially adopted in 1904. Maryland law requires that if any ornament is affixed to the top of a flagstaff carrying the Maryland flag, the ornament must be a gold cross bottony.

As the officially designated flagship campus of the University of Maryland system, College Park is quickly becoming nationally and internationally recognized for excellence in research and the advancement of knowledge. Its position of leadership in the academic arena is complimented by the rich tradition of the women's basketball program.

The Terps have enjoyed overwhelming national and international success during Chris Weller's 16 years at the helm. The 1991-92 season promises to be a flagship year for the Terps as well.

A total of four starters and nine letter winners are back from last year's team. Fresh in their memories is another participation in the NCAA Tournament and a second place finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Statistically, seven of the top eight in terms of scoring and rebounding, are back. Three players who have played on the U.S. Junior National team are back, including two who played on the team this past summer. A Kodak all-America from the junior college ranks has joined the squad along with a pair of players who currently represent their country on the international level. The 1991 Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie-of-the-Year is back. Four players with U.S. Olympic Festival experience dot the roster.

Maryland participated in the NCAA Tournament for the eighth time in the last 10 years in 1991 and Weller used everybody on the roster to do so. She used 12 different lineups with 10 players averaging double figures in playing time. Maryland's 17-13 record in 1991 was the result of young players meshing with more experienced ones, strong frontcourt and ever improving backcourt play and a season of maturation culminating Maryland's eighth NCAA Tournament appearance in 10 years.



Junior Katrina Colleton played on the U.S. Junior National Team and in the U.S. Olympic Festival in 1991.

Junior Jessie Hicks is the Terps leading returning scorer and played on the U.S. Junior National team in 1991.

The maturity of the team was in large part, led by the front court players. That group handled a great deal of the load and look to do so again this season.

THE FORWARDS

All-America candidate Dafne Lee (Sr., Baltimore, MD/Walbrook) is the most experienced of the forwards. Lee averaged 11.2 points and a team high 5.4 rebounds while playing a team high 23.1 minutes per game in 1991. She scored in double figures 12 times and led the team in rebounding an even dozen times.

Bonnie Rimkus (So., Pittsburgh, PA/Carlynton), the 1991 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year could be another strong forward. She was second on the team in scoring with 11.5 points and pulled down 5.1 rebounds a game. Rimkus was selected as the conference Rookie-of-the-Week four times during her inaugural campaign and led the Terps in scoring and rebounding in conference games.

First-team Junior College All-America Malissa Boles (Milwaukee, WI/Sullivan, JC) is an experienced player who should merit playing time at a number of positions. She averaged 23.8 points and 8.4 rebounds last season to lead Sullivan (Ky.) Junior College to the Regional playoffs. Boles is an experienced ballhandler and excellent outside shooter who can play the point, the shooting guard or a forward position. Boles is a strong athlete who plays both ends of the court with meticulous skill.

The forward position is solid. After enduring a second knee surgery in two years, Sue Panek (Sr., Lilly, PA/Bishop Carroll) played in 18 games while starting four in 1991. Panek, Lee and Mary Barnes played on Maryland's Final Four team in 1989. Kesha Camper (Salisbury, MD/Parkside) is a recruit that Weller is excited about. Camper was a first team all-league selection as senior when she averaged 24.1 points and 12.1 rebounds a game for Parkside High School.

CENTER

In the post, All-America candidate Jessie Hicks (Jr., Richmond, VA/Thomas Jefferson) led the team in scoring in 1991 and returns for her third year in College Park. Hicks was named to the U.S. Junior National Team after a selection to the Olympic Festival All-Tournament team this summer. Hicks scored in double figures 20 times last season as she led Maryland in scoring. Her career high of 27 points came against NCAA East Regional Finalist Clemson, when the Tigers were ranked 12th in the nation. Monica Adams (So., Oklahoma City, OK/Putnam City North) saw her playing time increase as the year went on. She started the final nine games of the season and averaged 4.5 points scored for the season.

Michele Andrew (Jr., Helsinki, Finland) toured the United States as a member of the Finnish National Team in 1990. At 6-0, Andrew could earn a starting birth to begin the 1991-92 season. Andrew is a quick player who is strong in the paint and runs the floor well.

THE GUARDS

Junior Katrina Colleton (Tampa, FL/East Bay) was a 1991 Junior National Team participant and heads the list of candidates who will play the guard position. She played in the U.S. Olympic Festival this summer. Colleton started 18 games in 1991 including all three post season contests. She scored a career high 16 points against N.C. State (when the Wolfpack was ranked No. 6) and averaged 13 points a game in post season play. Colleton shared the team's Most Improved Player award with Mary Barnes following last season.

Adding depth and experience to the guard position are Mary Barnes (Gaithersburg, MD/Gaithersburg) and Estelle Christy (Bridgeport, CT/Bassick). Barnes was granted a medical redshirt because of an injury she sustained during her freshman season. Her return adds an another year of experience and even more depth to the already strong position. Christy is looking forward to an injury free season and improving her statistics from her sophomore season. Monica Bennett (Tampa, Fl/Hillsborough), now in her third year in the Terrapin program, has played both the point and shooting guard positions. Bennett worked hard during the off season to improve her strength to contribute to her all-around game.

Karon Ferguson (Lanham, MD/Du Val) was a first team all-county point guard selection as she averaged 10.8 points per game in leading Du Val High School to a state championship. Ferguson has the athletic ability and winning attitude needed to be an immediate contributor. Weller recruited Limor Mizrachi (So., Givataim, Israel) to add to the Terps depth and experience at the guard position. Mizrachi could fill the vacant point guard slot left by Aluma Goren, who returned to play professionally in Israel. Mizrachi is the point guard on the National Team of Israel and will put in a strong bid for the starting job in College Park.

Junior Estelle Christy will add experience and depth to the guard position.

Head Coach Chris Weller

Chris Weller's presence on the court is preceded by legend.

Before the opening tip, opponents encounter her dozen NCAA and National Tournament appearances, eight Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and 13 Top 20 Rankings. She is in command, knowing implicitly what it takes to be successful.

Her talents color Maryland athletics. Few coaches have been at College Park longer, and none have been more successful over the past two decades. Her stature as an ambassador of both the state and university is enhanced by countless speaking engagements, clinics and outreaches to charity.

She is a pioneer in women's athletics as a coach and administrator, having seen the rise in commitment to Maryland basketball, from Title IX days of educating everyone about her sport to today's national television appearances and media coverage.

Chris Weller's teams hit the court enhanced by her legend. Preparation is thorough, the schedule challenging, and she guards the right to wear Maryland's fight color of red to those who fight to wear it.

Weller is an impact coach. Her first team at Maryland recorded a 20-4 record in 1975-76; the next year she took the Terps to a first ever national ranking of 13th. Her third year brought an ACC Championship, a number 2 national ranking and participation in the first "Final 4" of women's basketball. She has not slowed in her output, her will to succeed is enough to energize more ACC Championships than any other coach, 8, and a career record of 328-139.

Three times Weller's Terps have gone to the Final Four of the National Tournament, the last appearance in 1989. The team was 29-2, ranked fifth in the nation and was ACC Champion, the coach was named ACC Coach of the Year and National Coach of the Year by the American Sports Women's Foundation. She coached the U.S. Select Team in 1986 and served on the coaching staff of the 1986 U.S. entrant that won the international Jones Cup Championship in Taiwan. She was a member of the U.S. Olympic Selection Committee, has served on the Kodak All-American Selection Committee and is currently the chair-person of the W.B.C.A Legislative Committee.

Weller's investment in Maryland began in 1962 when she matriculated as an undergraduate. She was a four year varsity performer in basketball, playing for an important mentor, Dottie Mcknight. She was also a swimmer and played on the University's first women's lacrosse team. Following graduation, she moved close by to coach at Silver Spring's John F. Kennedy High School. There she taught and coached the women's basketball, tennis and lacrosse teams.

Returning in 1973 for her Master's degree, she was named assistant women's basketball coach. Two years later she was her own boss, directing the Terps to basketball success, and until 1980, serving as the athletic department's primary women's administrator.

Weller imparts her will to succeed 12 months a year. During the summer, when she is not following team members to Olympic Festivals or giving yet another clinic in front of her coaching peers, she runs a camp that attracts hundreds of basketball hopefuls from elementary and high schools throughout Maryland and surrounding states. There, the very young get everything Chris Weller can do to make them batter basketball players, and impart her self discipline.

Her legend, and her work ethic, precede her everywhere.

Assistant Coach Belinda "Boe" Pearman

Boe Pearman is entering her seventh season as assistant coach to Chris Weller. She serves as the coordinator of both recruiting and scouting for the Terps.

Pearman finished a four year standout career at Maryland in 1984 with her name etched prominently in the Maryland record books. She ranked 11th in scoring and 12th in rebounding. In addition, she has coached five of the top 10 all-time leading scorers at Maryland and four of its all-time rebounding leaders. In 1982, she was honored on the ACC All-Conference team.

She earned her bachelor's degree in recreation in 1985 and immediately began her coaching career. She served as the head varsity coach at Regina High School in Hyattsville, MD., and directed it to its best ever season in the Maryland area Catholic League as they defeated the No. 1 ranked team during the season.

Maryland was ranked in the Associated Press Top-20 poll each week during her tenure. During each season she wore the red and white, Maryland was, at one time during each season, ranked in the AP Top 10. She was part of three ACC Championship teams and played in the NCAA Tournament each of her four years.

In her six year coaching career at Maryland, Pearman has had outstanding recruiting success. She has been responsible for the recruitment of four players who have gone on to become members of the U.S. Junior National Team, six players who participated in the U.S. Olympic Festival and three players who garnered ACC Rookie of the Year honors.

Pearman has been associated with six of Maryland's eight ACC Championships during her playing/coaching career. In addition, she has participated in eight NCAA Tournaments during her 10-year affiliation with the school.

In addition to her coaching and recruiting responsibilities, she is the director of Chris Weller's highly successful basketball camp. Pearman is a native of Hagerstown, MD.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING: Mike Vasalani, Richard Nelson, Frank Costelo and Dwight Galt.

Terp Strength & Conditioning

Preparing an athlete to play a particular sport is the mission of the Strength and Conditioning program at Maryland. Proper training leads to more confidence on the athlete's part, and translates into a competitive, ready Terrapin.

Strength and Conditioning is directed by Frank Costello, an extraordinary competitor and coach. As a Terrapin undergraduate, he was the third ranked high jumper in the world. He was an NCAA Champion and four-time All-America. As a coach he led Maryland to both the IC4A Indoor and Outdoor team titles and was NCAA District Coach of the Year. Maryland's Strength and Conditioning Coordinator since 1981, Costello coaches the whole athlete. He is one of the leading authorities on the dangers of drug abuse in his profession, and is a frequent guest on network television, explaining the dangers of taking shortcuts to enhance the body.

Costello and Assistants Dwight Galt, Mike Vasalani, and Rich Nelson begin the road to physically preparing an athlete to play their sport by conferring with the sport's coach, and then testing and evaluating the individual. Weight training, speed training, flexibility training – all could be part of a balanced prescription to excel, depending on the sport.

Galt is on his second stint as part of the Maryland strength staff. He was an assistant strength coach in 1984 and 1985 under Costello, and rejoined the staff just prior to the start of the 1989 football season. Both he and Nelson, a starting offensive lineman for the Terps in 1987 and 1988, have their undergraduate degrees from Maryland. Galt also has a master's degree in exercise physiology and Nelson currently is working towards his master's. Vasalani is in his third year on the staff, after graduating from Slippery Rock in 1987. While at Slippery Rock, he was the National Collegiate Powerlifting Champion.

Maryland's commitment to strength and conditioning grows with the explosion of interest among athletes and coaches. Men's and women's sports, team and individual competition – every sport is involved.

Cole Field House

When college basketball was achieving its most explosive growth — from the late 1950's to the 1970's — there was one college gymnasium on the East Coast that sat as many as 12,000 fans. Cole Field House epitomized the new big time, main event status of college hoops, the sport of network TV and emerging legends. It stands today as a building that faces cosmetic renewal over the next several years, but Cole's charisma will not be tampered with; there was not a bad seat on Dec. 2, 1955, when it was dedicated in a game against Virginia, and there is not a better place to watch a game today. Only in a building like Cole, where history has been routinely made, can the fan feel the echo of tradition, and experience, even in the empty Cole, the electricity generated by buzzer beaters and a thousand slam dunks.

Cole was dedicated as the Student Activities Center, a $3.3 million project that was erected under the tutelage of Board of Regents Chair, Judge William P. Cole Jr., and President Wilson Elkins. A year after the dedication, the building was named in honor of Cole, who served the Board of Regents for 25 years.

Although Cole has remained the same basketball hall it was built to be, there have been refinements. Scoreboards were installed recently that will not only tell the fan what the score is, but also how loud they are cheering. Cole's seating also grew from its original base, and 14,500 fans can now root for the Red and White at any game.

As championships were awarded over the years, Cole got some of the very best. The 1966 and 1970 Men's Basketball Final Fours were held here. Last year, the first and second rounds of the Eastern Regionals were held in Cole Field House. The NCAA Wrestling Championship was held here in 1960, 1972, 1978, 1987, and 1990, and the NCAA Women's Volleyball Championship took place last December.

Cole Field House is home to most of the athletic department offices, and yearly hosts thousands who visit just to see where so much hoop history has been made.

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Founded on May 8, 1953 and now in its 39th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Atlantic Coast Conference schools have captured 36 NCAA & AIAW championships, including 20 in men's sports and 16 in women's competition. In addition, 69 men and 21 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA Champion.

The University of Maryland brought the first NCAA Championship to the ACC, winning the national football title in 1953.

Outstanding Academics

The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic accomplishments of its student-athletes. That accomplishment is nowhere better reflected than in the CFA Academic Achievement Award which is given annually to the CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team. Six times over the past 11 years, an ACC member school has claimed the award.

In addition, since 1963, ACC basketball players have earned first team Academic All-America honors 28 times. The most recent of those honorees is Maryland's Matt Roe, who was a national selection last season. Roe typified the student-athletes in the ACC, earning third team All-ACC honors on the court and first team Academic All-America honors off it.

The Championships

The conference will conduct championships in 23 sports in 1991-92, with 12 for men and 11 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on Feb. 25, 1954, while the league's inaugural basketball tournament took place March 4-6, 1954. That tournament drew 36,000 fans over three days, and the Grandaddy of college basketball tournaments continues to pack them in. This year's postseason classic will again be held in the Charlotte Coliseum, whose 23,000-plus seats will be filled to capacity four consecutive days.

The ACC this year will sponsor men's championships in basketball, football, cross country, soccer, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, swimming, tennis, golf and lacrosse.

Women's sports were initiated at the conference level in 1977. The league will sponsor championships for women in basketball, cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf and softball.
